ORGANISATIONAL STRATEGY AND CHANGE

Elton Consulting understands organisations and helps them navigate their complex operating environments to improve and change. Experts in facilitating leadership, management and staff teams to work collaboratively, we build consensus to plan and implement workable strategies.

Our approach recognises the importance of leadership, building on organisational strengths and engaging effectively with key stakeholders who significantly impact how successfully change manifests.

We review organisational structures and work collaboratively with organisations to create business improvement strategies, change management and implementation plans, and the communications and engagement methods to support successful change.

STRATEGIC AND BUSINESS PLANNING

We work with boards, senior executives, staff and other stakeholders to develop strategic and business plans that drive successful implementation.

Our experience in strategic risk management and corporate governance is integrated into our business planning processes. We help our clients make sense of complex and changing operating environments and set clear priorities, strategic directions and measurable outcomes.

SERVICE PLANNING AND PROGRAM REVIEW

We review service and program frameworks, including their purpose, funding and resourcing arrangements and delivery models. We help clarify required outcomes, consider benchmarks and identify delivery options. We engage staff and stakeholders, including communities, clients and customers. We develop approaches that embed cultural change in program and service planning.

In the context of changing community expectations, regulatory and accountability requirements, or constrained finances, we review the efficiency and effectiveness of service delivery arrangements to reshape practical program and service frameworks.

“Elton Consulting has partnered with clients for over 25 years to deliver practical benefits to cities and regions, organisations and communities.”
